Locksmiths refer to these keys as “ restricted, ” meaning that duplication rights are limited to the key ’ s original manufacturer. In order to make some of their products more secure, lock makers have made restricted keys which are harder to copy because the process requires special equipment and because the key design is patent protected.

Key duplication refers to the process of creating a key based on an existing key. Key cutting is the primary method of key duplication: a flat key is fitted into a vise in a machine, with a blank attached to a parallel vise, and the original key is moved along a guide, while the blank is moved against a wheel, which cuts it. After cutting, the new key is deburred: scrubbed with a metal brush to remove burrs which, were they not removed, would be dangerously sharp and, further, foul locks. Differ
