Overview. Emmy Laybourne's 2012 novel, Monument 14, charts the experiences of a group of fourteen students in the wake of a mega-tsunami. The story takes place in the year 2024 in the city of Monument, Colorado. As both grade-school and high-school students ride the bus to school one morning, they encounter a hailstorm, which causes their school bus to crash.

Monument 14 Summary and Study Guide | SuperSummary

This novel explores the theme of social hierarchies through male power dynamics. The group at the Greenway is a microcosm of high-school social dynamics. Jake and Brayden are at the top of the hierarchy, while Niko and Dean are at the bottom. A significant aspect of hierarchal dominance in the novel is physicality.

Which is why I'm absolutely stunned that Laybourne has managed to replicate her success in her second novel Monument 14: Sky on Fire. It's one thing to create such a great debut novel, yet creating a worthy sequel that lives up the previous iteration's legacy is another accomplishment entirely, one which most authors usually can't live up to.
