Walther P38 Worth Also, there seems to be less of a demand for P38s right now, and prices are a little depressed. Ordinarily, your pistol would be worth about $750 and the holster would go for about $225. Since it has an incorrect mag, and taking today's prices into account, I would say it would sell for around $850.

Walther P38 Serial Number Location - studiosfastpower

Using the same conversion, that works out to about $5 less than the Luger's $19 USD cost per unit. Adjusted for inflation that is about $240 for the P38 and $330 for the Luger. To put that into some context, the U.S. Army paid roughly $560 per gun for the Beretta M9 (adjusted for inflation, we think).

Adopted by the German Wehrmacht at the end of 1939, more than 1.2 million P.38s were manufactured up to 1945. Designed by the Walther company from its civilian model PP, it was the first double-action military pistol. Its robustness and simplicity of manufacture made it a worthy successor to the legendary P.08 Luger in the Second World War. This illustrated book presents the design, manufacturing, and development of the various models, from initial acceptance by the German military in 1938 through their production and use from 1939 to 1945. Details include close-up views of markings and other details, as well as a visual breakdown of the weapon. Accessories such as magazines, ammunition, holsters, and cleaning kits are featured throughout the book, as are rarely seen combat-related uniform and equipment items.
